Beverley and Canterbury Cricket Club

The Beverley Cricket Club was founded in 1835 using a ground at St. Stephen's in Canterbury. It instrumental in starting Canterbury Cricket Week and helped to establish the first Kent Club in 1842

With Fuller Pilch, the greatest player of the day, as both grounds man and professional, the club moved to a new ground at St. Lawrence in Canterbury where it enjoyed a period of great fame and success. In 1870 it amalgamated with the Kent Club to form the present Kent County Cricket Club.

A new Beverley CC was one of the founder members of the East Kent League and in 1979 the Beverley amalgamated with Canterbury Pilgrims in order to join with Canterbury Hockey Club as founder members of Polo Farm Sports Club where it has played since 1982.

In 1999, Beverley CC changed its name to Canterbury Cricket Club and, in 2003 merged with Canterbury Alliance Cricket Club.

Canterbury was the first club in be awarded ClubMark in 2006 and ECB Focus club community cluster status from the Cricket Board in 2008.

It became the Kent Cricket Club Development Hub in conjunction with the county club in 2021.
